

Arne Holverscheid

Last updated: March 2024

Northwestern University

Evanston, IL

arneholverscheid2026@u.northwestern.edu

RESEARCH INTERESTS Political behavior, radical right parties and far right extremism, political norms, money in politics, political methodology

EDUCATION	Ph.D. Candidate (ABD) Political Science Northwestern University, Evanston, IL	expected 2026
	Dissertation: "Norm change, social media and the far-right" Committee: J. Seawright (Chair), James Druckman, Pablo Barbera (University of Southern California/Meta)
	M.S. Statistics Northwestern University, Evanston, IL	expected 2026
	M.A. Political Science Northwestern University, Evanston, IL	2023
	MSc Social Research Methods London School of Economics & Political Science, London, UK	2020
	BA Political Science University of Munich, Munich, Germany	2016

ONGOING RESEARCH PROJECTS

Analysis of far-right normalization using data from Telegram channels (Dissertation project)

Behavioral experiment on social media and political norm change (Dissertation project)

Bayesian framework for measuring the influence of one text corpus on another over time (Dissertation project)

Persuasive Effect of Televised Campaign Advertising in the 2016 Presidential Election (with Brian Libgober and Guillaume Pouliot)

Far-right podcasts and mainstream political language (with J. Seawright)

Conjoint experiment on the consequences of different types of corruption (with Jordan Gans-Morse, Aaron Erlich, and Simeon Nichter)

WORK EXPERIENCE	Data Consultant	2022 – present
	Research Computing and Data Services (RCDS), Northwestern University, Evanston, IL
	Associate, Business Advisory PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC), Berlin/Munich, Germany	2015-2016 & 2018-2019
	Investigator, Fraud Division Serious Fraud Office (SFO), London, UK	2016-2018

TEACHING & RESEARCH SERVICE	Teaching Assistant , Northwestern University
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">▪ Introduction to Empirical Methods in Political Science, Fall 2022▪ R Workshop for Political Science and Sociology graduate students, Winter 2023▪ Statistical Research Methods, Spring 2023
	Research Assistant , Northwestern University
	<ul style="list-style-type: none">▪ Research Assistant, Institute for Policy Research (Prof. Brian Libgober), Winter 2023▪ Research Assistant, Institute for Policy Research (Prof. James Druckman), Winter 2023

SKILLS	Languages: German (native), English (proficient), French (intermediate), Spanish (intermediate), Hebrew (basic)
	Programming/Software: R (advanced), Python (advanced), Microsoft Office (advanced), Markdown (intermediate), HTML (basic), Latex (basic), VBA (basic)